The Black Forest

Traditionally hospitable.

Our beautiful landscapes, romantic towns and villages, famous museums and great concerts, traditional spas and highly acclaimed cuisine are among the best reasons to visit the Black Forest.

Invitingly charming

Situated right near the German border with France and Switzerland, the Black Forest holiday region spans an area of 190 km from north to south and around 60 to 80 km from east to west. There are many easy ways for you to reach your holiday destination in the southwest.

If traveling by car, take the A5 in the west, A81 in the east or A8 in the north. The Black Forest holiday region is well connected by state and federal highways.

The region is also served by the airports in Karlsruhe/Baden-Baden, Lahr, Basel/Mulhouse/Freiburg, Stuttgart, Friedrichshafen, Strasbourg and Zurich.

Visit the home of the Bollenhut and the Black Forest

Black Forest girls, farmhouses, Black Forest cake and ham, the Bollenhut and the cuckoo clock – known the world over, these traditional features make for a storybook holiday in one of Europe's most beautiful destinations.

The natural surroundings shift from sunny vineyards to shadowy forests. Upland moors and lakes, climbing rocks and orchards, the gentle hills in the east and the Kaiserstuhl in the west are all part of the Black Forest holiday experience, along with broad valleys, narrow gorges, sprawling mountains and towering summits.

More than 300 cities, towns and villages are situated in the region and its surroundings, offering visitors convenient access to everything from adventure to enjoyment and nature to culture.

The most frequently visited highlights of the Black Forest are towns like Baden-Baden and Freiburg, the Triberg waterfall and the world famous Titisee.

Other attractions of the Black Forest include impressively beautiful and historic towns, the traditional half-timbered houses, romantic castles and palaces, unique churches and monasteries.

Costumes, dances, traditions and craftsmanship preserve the cultural heritage of the region. Nearly every valley contributes its own piece to the region's cultural jigsaw puzzle.

Tradition

Right at the heart of it.

● Timeless creations

The Swabian-Alemannic carnival, held during the so-called "fifth season" and very distinguishable from the much younger Rhineland carnival, demonstrates just how deeply rooted traditions are among the people of the Black Forest.

You can experience the history of the Swabian-Alemannic carnival and the various fools' guilds, their masks and "Häs" (costumes) throughout the year in the Narrenschopf museum in Bad Dürrenheim. The association of Swabian-Alemannic fools' guilds, founded in 1924 in the Black Forest, is the oldest of its kind in Germany. Learn more at www.narrenschopf.de.

For more information, visit www.blackforest-tourism.com.

Keeping old traditions alive

The Black Forest has been a first-class cultural landscape for centuries. The people of the Black Forest live their traditions with a great sense of pride in their roots and their achievements.

This is also reflected in the more than one hundred different traditional costumes that are worn for special occasions and festivals. On almost every weekend of the year, you can experience live folk dance and music in any one of the villages.

Tradition and progress, customs and modern-day life are all closely tied together here in the Black Forest.

From the 17th to the 19th century, the production of glass, clocks, organs and brushes brought modest prosperity to the valleys. Today well-known high-tech, wood-processing, sanitary and industrial firms are based here. For example, the organs used at churches and fairs around the world are built in Waldkirch. Bernau was the site of the first mass production of skis in 1892 and to this day, Bernau woodworkers, known as "Schnefler", are well-known for their wooden houses, furniture, as well as home and restaurant amenities.

More than 350 years of clockmaking are kept alive at the German Clock Museum in the town of Furtwangen. The Jewelry Museum in Pforzheim highlights Black Forest jewelry production. And the Dorotheenhütte in Wolfach demonstrates how glass production has changed over the years. Visitors can create their own hand-blown vases at one of the last remaining glass manufacturers in the region – or hearken back to the Christmas ornaments and tinsel angels of their youth all year round.

Shopping

Discover and enjoy.

With its high mountains and deep valleys, this holiday region boasts many sights worth seeing and excursions worth making for those who want to reach beautiful and interesting destinations quickly and experience them selectively.

At the top of the list is the Titisee in the highlands of the Black Forest. Located 850 meters above sea level and fed by the source of the Feldberg mountain massif, it is one of the largest natural mountain lakes in Germany. If the weather is nice, a trip to the top of the Feldberg at 1493 m. is, of course, a highlight on its own.

Another popular destination is the waterfall of Triberg (www.triberg.de), situated on the “Deutsche Uhrenstrasse” (German clock route) or reachable with one of the greatest mountain railways in Europe – the Schwarzwaldbahn.

In the open-air Vogtsbauernhof museum in Gutach, you can discover how the people of the Black Forest have lived and worked for the last 400 years. You’ll also see impressive Black Forest farms, mills and saws, living rooms and barns (www.vogtsbauernhof.org). Discover the culture and history of the region at first hand.

Regardless of your interests or how you choose to travel, you’ll find countless welcoming country inns, lodges and cozy cafés on your way!

Black Forest cuisine

No other region in Germany boasts more stars and awards for its great food and restaurants.

An overview of the more than 400 restaurants decorated with stars and various other awards for gourmet excellence can be found at www.blackforest-tourism.com.

Germany's region of culinary delights

The culinary delights of the Black Forest region are reason enough to pay us a visit. Whether you're at a starred restaurant or the village inn, our chefs combine the finesse of Baden, Swabian, Alsatian and Swiss cuisine, often with surprising results.

A look at the menu will tell you much about the landscape, the season and the region's love of cooking – tender beef in pepper sauce, Bibbeleskäs with Brägele (a dish with fresh cheese and sautéed potatoes), roulade of Black Forest trout or saddle of venison served Baden-Baden style. One glance and you won't be able to choose!

Vacationers will find at least one restaurant or inn with a unique gourmet flair in almost every village or town in the region. And all our restaurants and inns serve up the highest level of comfort and hospitality.

The gourmet experience is enhanced by Baden's superb wines. The 160-kilometer-long Baden Wine Route runs along the Rhine valley and leads the way to wine and champagne tastings at hospitable wineries. The many wine trails are also a great way to discover this beautiful wine country on foot.

Try the local beers, too! Made with fresh Black Forest spring water according to tradition, the beers here are some of the best Germany has to offer. Some have even achieved cult status beyond the borders of our region and many are only available here.

Tour suggestions

The aim is to make discoveries.

The Classic Black Forest Tour

From Freiburg head up the Glottertal valley to St. Peter with its baroque onastery church, which is definitely worth visiting. Continue up Kandel mountain, stopping to take in the beautiful panoramic view over the Black Forest and the Rhine plain. For organ lovers of all types and sizes the next stop en route is Waldkirch with its unique organ museum, before continuing via Elzach and Oberprechtal on more scenic, but occasionally narrower roads into Gutachtal. Visit the „Vogtsbauernhof“ open air museum where over 30 original farmhouses and other buildings commemorate the cultural history of the whole Black Forest region. Continue along the B33 to Germany's highest waterfalls in Triberg which cascades 163m down 7 levels. Now take the B500 in the direction of Hinterzarten to Furtwangen on one of the prettiest trunk roads in the southern Black Forest, with numerous attractive vantage points. The clock museum in Furtwangen is well worth a further digression. Round the day off with a stroll along the promenade in Titisee.

Excursion to Lake Constance

From Freiburg take the B31 via Titisee and Bonndorf to Stuehlingen, and cross the border into Switzerland at Schleithem. Visit the Rhine Falls near Schaffhausen or continue straight on to Stein am Rhein, famous for the magnificent painted facades of its half-timbered buildings. En route to Lake Constance you first come to the town of Constance and the border crossing back into Germany. Visit the historical city centre with its casino and make time for a round trip on the lake, or a ferry trip over to Meersburg. Before setting off back to the Black Forest don't miss a trip to the famous flower-festooned island of Mainau – enjoy a lunch or a leisurely coffee break there. On the A81 towards Stuttgart take the Geisingen/Donaueschingen exit, which brings you back on the B31 again to Freiburg. There's no need to change any currency as euros are accepted in the border area in Switzerland.

Baden-Baden – Straßburg

Visit Baden-Baden, the city known worldwide for its baths, recreational value, its congress hall and festivals, on the edge of the Northern Black Forest. You must absolutely go to see the spa hotel with the loveliest casino of the world and the spa gardens along the Lichtentaler Allee, once the promenade of the European high nobility. Other attractions you shouldn't miss: the pump room, the theatre, the Brahms house, the Stourdza band, the Russian church and the cloister Lichtental. When driving the Autobahn A5 in direction of Basel, you will reach Strasbourg in the Alsace in about one hour's time. The tower of the cathedral Nötre Dame, one of the most imposing edifices of the Middle Ages, soars from the city centre to be seen miles away. The old part of town was declared a World Cultural Heritage Site by the UNESCO. Thanks to its many timbered houses and picturesque quarters of town, such as the quarter of the tanners, of the millers or the fishers, the city has preserved its medieval character.

Outing to the Black-Forest open-air museum "Vogtsbauernhof"

Via Offenburg to Gengenbach (historical town centre) proceed on the B33 towards Hausach and before reaching Gutach you will find the "Vogtsbauernhof" on your right. Here you will discover Black-Forest culture and history. Get back in time. Where formerly stood on wide plains the well-preserved Vogt farm house now stand a multifold of historical building from various Black-Forest regions, reviving the past and inviting you to walk through the different cultures. A year-round event program and many event highlights, starting with festivities showing traditional costumes up to a sort of harvest feast, will make your visit of the museum a memorable one. Opening hours from end of April to start of November

Schwarzwald Hochstraße

The famous panorama road from Baden-Baden to Freudenstadt is an absolute must for all people visiting the Black Forest. The road constructed in 1932 in its present trace stretches along heights of 600 to 1000 m and offers the visitor amazing views onto the Rhine valley and up to the Vosges mountains. Natural centres of attraction are the Hornisgrinde, with its 1184 m the highest mountain of the Northern Black Forest, the Mummelsee at an altitude of 988 m with its legend of mermaids, the protected landscapes at the Schliffkopf and the Ruhstein as well as the Schwarzenbach dam. Enjoy the cosmopolitan hospitality of the hotels along the road, e.g. of the world-famous Schlosshotel Bühlerhöhe, of the Berghotel Mummelsee and the Schliffkopf hotel.

Titisee, Feldberg and Schluchsee

... high above and at a short distance from Freiburg, seems to magically draw the visitors' attention. The Titisee, 2 km in length and 750 m in width, is the largest natural lake within the German low-mountain ranges. Beach, boat rental and tours make it even more attractive. The crowning glory of the Black-Forest mountains is the Feldberg with its 1,494 m. It is respectfully called "Highness" and has lots to offer, not only during winter. The mountain station is the starting point of many breathtaking hiking tours. Schluchsee will then be reached via Altglashütten. It was originally a glacial lake and the concrete dam has made it to the largest lake of our region with about 5 km2 and bathing as well as water sports centre.

The locals of the Kinzig Valley welcome their guests warmly and invite them to conviviality, music and merry festivals.

Picturesque villages, dreamy spots and cozy Black Forest farms, beautiful old town houses, tours filled with experiences through flowering meadows, summer forests, vineyards in autumn and over the enchanting Black Forest highlands in winter: Experience carefree holidays in the Kinzig Valley!

From horse riding to hang gliding, from the half-pipe to the vineyard hiking route, from fun with the family in a pool to idyllic spots on the forest's edge, from the spotless green for the golfer to the superb signposted cycle paths for cyclists and mountain bikers the Kinzig Valley has attractions for all ages and interests.

For example the popular Kinzig Valley cycling route has been signposted obstacle-free and the newly opened wolf and bear park now has more wolves and bears in their natural surrounding besides Bruno's mama.

The bright red Bollenhut is the trademark of the Black Forest. Yet strictly speaking the Kinzig Valley and its villages Gutach, Kirnbach and Hornberg-Reichenbach are its home. This is something the Kinzig Valley is proud of, just as of a lot more traditions. The music of the costume bands, the marching-up of the vigilantes and the dances of the costume groups are part of these traditions. The old trades and the deeply rooted traditions of the Alemannischen Fastnacht (Carnival) are well-cultivated with great care. The Kinzig Valley is a cultural highlight.

Even the Romans built a few streets here as they organized their trade and military routes in Germania. Today the holiday region in the middle of the Black Forest hold the key to open a few cultural treasures for guests: Museums and galleries, ruins of castles and historic Black Forest farms, living traditions, music from classic to pop, jazz to folk music, theatre and folklore.

Take a deep breath and feel the clean air in the Kinzig Valley. This is proven by the many acknowledged and certified resorts for especially clean air and recreation and the certified spa in this region.

Whether you are looking for a group trip or individual trio, sporting activities or recreation – the holiday attractions and offers of this region are just as varied as its inhabitants and its country side.

The holiday region Münstertal Staufen is located between the sunny vineyards of the Markgräflerland and the mountain region of the southern Black Forest with the striking Belchen (1.414 m). From the Mediterranean atmosphere of the soft vineyard hills to the impressive rock formations with an Alpine touch – here every guest will find his or her individual favourite landscape. Every one of the four holiday resorts has its own characteristics and offers a variety of holiday activities.

Münstertal is embedded in one of the most beautiful valleys of the Black Forest and is the ideal spot for nature lovers who love the open and free landscape with impressive views. The monastery and architectural gem St. Trudpert is located in a fairytale country side in the middle of the valley. Over all this the Belchen rises up majestically, for many the most beautiful mountain of the Black Forest. Treasure hunts in a visitors' mine, bees and hives in the Bee museum, county life in an original Black Forest farm of 1902 – one week is not enough time to discover the evident and hidden treasures of the Münstertals.

At the foot of the Schlossberg with its castle ruins the City of Faust Staufen is located and has an excellent cultural programme. A stroll through the winding alleys lets you walk on the streets of the lovingly restored medieval town and follow the traces of the well-known alchemist Dr. Faust who was desperately looking for a way to make gold and therefore made a pact with the devil himself Mephistopheles. Guaranteed devilish good after the walk will be the piece of Black Forest gateau in one of the well-known cafés.

Ballrechten-Dottingen plays with its charm as a traditional wine producing village and is with 200 ha vines one of the most important wine producing districts in the Markgräflerland. On a walk on the nearby Castell hill you will dive into this wine-growing tradition and enjoy at the same time the view over the Rhine Valley up to the Vosges.

With the village Ehrenkirchen the holiday region borders on the city of Freiburg. Its parts of town are located like pearls in a row on a necklace on the south side of the Schönberg. Wine growing is the major form of income here and reaches its regional peak with the prominent Ehrenstetter Ölberg. More than 100 km hiking and mountain biking routes reveal the varied country side between the Black Forest, Hexental and Schönberg.

We would be pleased to be of help to you with an individual offer. We are looking forward to your visit!

Sunny highlands, fissured rock formations and unspoiled forests put their stamp on the Rothauser Country as one of the most-varied holiday country sides in the Nature Park Southern Black Forest. The view over to the Alps and to the Feldberg is breath-taking. Located near the Wutach Gorge and the Schluchsee Lake the region Grafenhausen-Rothaus, the location of the Baden state brewery by the same name, extends over to the village Ühlingen-Birkendorf, approximately 20km to the deeply fissured valley of Steina, Mettma, Schwarza and the Schlücht.

The offer on holiday activities is just as varied as the landscape itself. 40 circular walks and hikes are part of a foot-path network of more than 300 km and to top this there is a Nordic walking centre. For cyclists there are signposted circular. In the summer time bathing in the Naturena Lake and the Schlücht Lake forms a definite highlight. Winter guests can make use of a foot-path network free of snow, about 60km DSV certified cross-country ski runs, 2 lifts and 3 toboggan runs. Indoor pool, sauna, solarium, table tennis, billiards and fitness locations are open throughout the year.

On the nature trail, at the trapper meeting, in the forest planted to protect against avalanches, on visiting a farm or a bee-keeper, on seeing shooting stars, at milking a mare or a fungus seminar the guests can become aware of unspoiled nature. Flying in a hot-air balloon you can enjoy the landscape from a completely different angle.

Spa concert, cabaret, traditional costume events and events of associations form the cultural frame. Cultural gems are the museum Hüsl (TV series "Die Schwarzwaldklinik") and the monastery Riedern. Sculptures of an art symposium make the spa park Grafenhausen look like an open-air gallery. The museum mill Tannenmühle, the Narrenhüsl Ühlingen and the state brewery Rothaus are also worth a visit.

Carnival (Fastnacht) with its fire spectacle Schiebeschlag forms the cultural highlight of the year on the Saturday after Carnival. Further highlights are the consecration of the ornately produced palms on Palm Sunday, the flower carpets at the Corpus Christi procession, the Harvest Festival procession in Berau with the traditional Harvest crown or even the country fair (Chilbi) with the rather new tradition of Hagehole, bringing home the bulls from the summer pastures.

Those interested in as clear and exclusive wellness offer can find what they are looking for in the Parkhotel Pavillion, in the 3-star Hotel Sonnhalde and in the holiday estate Schiesselhof. In the Schlüchtseehof you can learn the secrets of mare milk. And in the Pranaseminaren of the nature healing practice Stöhr the guest will learn about life-energy and the natural healing resources of the body.

With the award as state winner of "Familienferien" (family holiday) for Birkendorf in the year 2003 and the repeated granting of the award for Grafenhausen in the year 2009, the Rothauser Land can proudly present itself as very family-friendly. Treasure hunting with GPS and the Harry-Potter-Rallies are only 2 examples of our more than 200 family events.
